The Stock Breaks Sharply in the Opening Dealings.

Northern Pacific Also Depressed-A Feverish Tone of the Market in the Early Transactions-Delaware and Hudson Strong-Operations Largely Centred in Railway Issues.

NEW YORK, Jan. 10 .- The tone of the Stock Market in the early dealings was exceedingly confined, and to no small extent feverish. There was a very sharp break in St. Paul on selling induced by the real status of the affairs of that company as set forth in this morning's news, and Northern Pa cific also declined rapidly, presumably under the same influence.

On the other hand, Delaware and Hudson, in which instance equally emphatic denials of any impending deals were made continued notably strong and was dealt in well above yesterday's final level. Conspicuously strong features of the market were Texas and Pacific and Southern Pacific. Missouri Pacific was somewhat reactionary as was Kansas and Texas, preferred. The dealings continued largely centred in the railway list.

The local traction shares were fairly active, and were strong, with heavy dealings in Brooklyn Rapid Transit and Manhattan. The American quarter of the London market was strong to-day, the foreign houses were small buyers of stocks here upon the opening of business.

CARNECLE AND THE TUBE TRUST Stockholders in the Monopoly Philadelphians Fail to Respond to

Alarmed at the New Rival. NEW YORK, Jan. 10.-No announcement stocks, at the possibility of competition,

Whether the Carnegies, as a result of the move, would reach some under-standing with the National Tube Company, which now practically controls the trade, and thus prevent ruinous competition, was the subject of chief interest to all concerned with the welfare of both corporations. Edmund C. Converse, President of the National Tube Company, would say noth-ing for publication. But a gentleman who was instrumental in bringing about the consolidation of the properties owned by the National Tube Company, and who is thoroughly familiar with its present his-tory and negotiations, intimated that there would be no serious strife between the separate concerns. the separate concerns.

"Anyway, the Carnegie project is a long way off," he continued. "It will take two years to equip the proposed plant and get ready for business. Many things may happen before then. We have always maintained pleasant relations with the Carnegie people, purchasing from them some of our supplies, and it seems scarcely possible that Mr. Carnegie would now run counter to us in everything."

"Then some understanding has been reached respecting division of business, or avoidance of complications incident to dis-asterous competition. "Well, there is nothing for stockholders of either company to be alarmed about."

"Has there been any sort of an agreeent reached?"
"I cannot enter into details." "I cannot enter into details."

A similar inference was drawn from the remark of a banker in close association with representatives of both interests. He thought there was "greater profit in peace than in var." "Both companies know that," he added, "and while it is too early to discuss the outcome of negotiations now under way, it is reasonable to sup-pose that two such powerful corporations will not ignore the advantages of concen-tration and mutual concessions."

Whether an agreement is reached or not, the incident is regarded of first significance in showing that no corporation is secure in a monopoly, and that none can control the market for a product in the face With the Lake Eric plant in operation, just east of the Conneaut harbor docks, the Carnegies will be enabled to rush shipments while navigation is open, resulting in an economy in transportation charges of from one-third to one-fourth the rates asked for rail shipments. This will give the plant an enormous advan-tage over conditions governing present deliveries, and will make available for coke-carrying purposes hundreds of empty cars now returned daily to ore-ship-ping points. From Conneaut, water com-nunication with Eastern ports can be had by the canals, and with Chicago, Milwaukee, Cleveland, and Pittsburg, by the lakes. The National Tube Company has its largest plant at Pittsburg. Others are located at Coboes, N. Y., Versailles, Pa., Syracuse, N. Y., Warren, Ohio, Philadel-phia, Pa., New Castle, Del., Chester, Pa., Youngstown, Ohio, Middletown, Pa., and Wheeling, W. Va. The company manufactures tubular goods for the production and utilization of light, heat, and water, as well as many specialties, such as shrapnel cases, projectile forgings, and other forms of war material. Its capital stocks, at the possibility of competition, opened very weak on the stock exchange, the preferred declining ii 1-2 points and the com on 4 points, though they later recovered some of this loss.

Although rumors concerning the extension of the Carnegie business have been frequent of late, President Schwab's statement was everywhere recognized as giving the outline of a carefully formulated plan. Whether the Carnegies, as a result scarcely more than a score of "ayes," and they came from the stage upon which was seated the mer under whose auspices the meeting was held.

A legitimate inference from the meet-ing is that the people of Philadelphia are well satisfied with the administration of Ashbridge and his henchmen, and that if they are being robbed they are content

The "Diario de la Marina," says that the principal problems to be solved in Cuba are the questions of the relations with the United States, immigration, the supply of agricultural labor, the system of coinage, customs reform, and a definite settlement of the mortgage question.
It adds that the present sugar crop is excellent, but if the present effort to obtain a reduction in the American import duties does not succeed the Cuban sugar industry will be ruined. The United States, it declares, should consider the fact that Cuba is a large consumer of American products and that the post-ponements of the repayment of mortgages on land granted by Generals Weyler and Blanco and Secretary Root have proved the greatest obstacle in agricultural re-
